BISHOP'S APPEAL FOR HAITI RELIEF

The people of Haiti have suffered a devastating earthquake, and it is already clear that many have died and many more are injured. Even under "normal" circumstances, Haiti struggles to care for her 9 million people. The nation is the poorest in the western hemisphere, and this latest disaster will set back many recent efforts at development. I urge your prayers for those who have died, been injured, and are searching for loved ones - and I urge your concrete and immediate prayers in the form of contributions to Episcopal Relief & Development, who are already working with the Diocese of Haiti to send what is most needed.

Presiding Bishop Katharine Jefferts Schori

Presiding Bishop Urges Liberian Anglicans to 'help each child in this nation.'

Presiding Bishop Katharine Jefferts Schori preached and celebrated a solemn high mass for more than 1,500 people on the second Sunday after Christmas at the cathedral in central Monrovia, the Capitol of Liberia, a nation of nearly 5.5 million people on Africa's west coast. The visit marked the first time Jefferts Schori had been the official guest of an African church.

In her sermon, the Presiding Bishop said, "This very nation of Liberia began in homecoming, in the restoration of peoples forcibly enslaved and exiled to North America and the Caribbean...Yet the work of homecoming is far from finished in this land. The homeward journeys of the 1800s also meant that others were pushed out of their homes. The years since have given rise to many struggles over whose home this nation would be. The violence of the last decades is a stark reminder that the Prince of Peace still has much to do."

Jefferts Schori said that she was surprised that Liberia's infant mortality rate trails only Afghanistan and Sierra Leone. The Presiding Bishop called those present to help the children of Liberia to be able to use the gifts that God has given them, noting that many others, including the Episcopal Church, have long been partners in caring for and teaching the children of Liberia. She concluded by saying, "The holy child who is born among us yet again is an ever-present reminder of the unique value of each human life, for each human being offers us a glimpse of the divine, each one is an image of God." She said, "Joseph was willing to risk his life for the sake of a child he believes is not his own -- what about us?"

Back Injuries

Your back is an intricate structure of bones, muscles, and other tissues extending from your neck to your pelvis. Back injuries can result from sports injuries, work around the house or in the garden, or a sudden jolt such as a car accident. The lower back is the most common site of back injuries and back pain. Common back injuries include

Sprains and strains

Herniated disks

Fractured vertebrae

These injuries can cause pain and limit your movement. Treatments vary but might include medicines, icing, bed rest, physical therapy or surgery. You might be able to prevent some back injuries by maintaining a healthy weight, lifting objects with your legs and using lower-back support when you sit.
